

Our household is much more like a home since we filed for the Indiana Telephone Privacy listing. Every evening, especially at supper time, the phone would ring off the wall, from telemarketer calls. It's more peaceful now. We have received calls before 8AM before getting on the list. The phone is for our use and convenience, not for someone elses commercial time. We oppose any change in the Indiana "no call" list. If there is national no call legislation that is less than the Indiana limitations, the Indiana level of limitations should still stand, as well as any other state with this protection already in place. Allow us to maintain and improve the quality of our home time by eliminating unsolicited calls for commercial, charity and political purposes.
